Father Charged With Killing Child and Putting Body on Bed.

BULLETIN
Madison—John A. Johnson, serving a life sentence for the murder of Annie Lemberger here in 1911, was brought to Madison from the state prison under guard Wednesday to testify at the preliminary hearing on the charge of manslaughter against Martin Lemberger. Johnson will not be called to the stand until near the close of the hearing, it was announced.

Madison—Testimony was given by undersheriff Otto Burmeister of Middleton at the preliminary hearing in the case against Martin Lemberger, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of his young daughter, Annie, in 1911, that he had seen blood spots on the sheet of the bed from which the girl is alleged to have been taken.

Back Up Mrs. Sorenson
This testimony, brought out for the first time, is said by attorneys to corroborate in a degree the story of Mrs. Sorenson, who declared at the hearing on application for pardon of John A. ("Dogskin") Johnson, who has served 10 years of a life sentence for the crime, that she had seen blood on the sheet following disappearance of the child. Mrs. Sorenson claimed that the father had killed the girl and placed her body on the bed.

His First Testimony
Mr. Burmeister said he had not been connected with the case and had not previously told of his knowledge of its details. Neither Sheriff A. Brown, in office at that time, nor County Attorney J. J. Devanney, of the police department, saw blood on the bed, the testimony developed.

Johnson, who was convicted of the crime on his confession and without trial, was charged with having placed the child from her bed and put her body on the bed, the testimony developed.

90,000 DEMANDED

American Delegation in New Proposal to Limit Size of Boats.

Washington—Hopes for an agreement to limit submarine tonnage were dashed Wednesday at meeting of arms conference naval committee. A demand by France for a minimum submarine tonnage of 90,000 tons was declared by delegates to have closed the door to any agreement, the American compromise proposal having been rejected finally and completely by the French.

Casting aside the possibility of harmonizing views on submarine tonnage, the American delegation brought forth a new proposal to limit the size of submarines and auxiliary craft to a maximum of 10,000 tons.

French Action Scored
Italian spokesmen, following presentation of the French demand, it was said, expressed regret that France had not seen it clear to accept a smaller tonnage, and Japan, also through her delegation spokesmen, declared the French demands amounted to something which Japan could not hope to sanction under the American proposal.

The French delegation declared adherence to the capital ship ratio agreement in the event of agreement on submarines, but with the reservation that she desired to begin rebuilding replacements in 1927, although this did not mean that she intended placing in the water before the ratification of the agreement.

Final French Statement
The presentation of the French viewpoint based on calculations of her naval experts and reinforced by approval of the French cabinet meeting Tuesday in Paris, was followed by lengthy discussions.

Albert Sarraut, head of the French delegation, it was understood, presented with an air of finality the declaration that France could not accept less than 30,000 tons of auxiliary craft in addition to submarines of 10,000 tons. The American compromise proposal would have given France about 31,000 tons of submarines.

The American proposal to limit the size of auxiliary craft to 10,000 tons also provides that such vessels shall not carry guns greater than eight inch.

GRIMM HEARS FACTS IN $5,000 LAWSUIT
Testimony was taken Tuesday before Judge George Grimm in a preliminary note case started by the Tobacco Exchange bank of Edgerton against Robert G. Grimm, Jr. in a three-cornered deal totaling $50,000 was negotiated for a transaction, according to the testimony of the defendants.

The sum of $5,000 is sought in judgment in the present action. G. W. Blanchard, Jr. of Oshkosh and Edgar Cunningham are the Rock county attorneys appearing in the action. Decision was withheld by Judge Grimm until further time for consideration.

PHILADELPHIA MAY USE 4,000 JOBLESS AS NIGHT WATCHMEN

Philadelphia—A plan to use 4,000 unemployed men in this city as night watchmen, their wages to be paid by contributions of 15 cents weekly by each family in the territory they are to guard, has been suggested to the unemployment committee by Mayor Moore. The plan, it is said, has the endorsement of police department officials. Under the proposed scheme each man is to control four squares of a city block, performing the duties of a private watchman. They are not to be uniformed and this, the mayor said, will decrease automobile thefts, burglaries and banditry of all sorts.

Woolson plans to meet Mr. Mountain there and accompany him to this city where he will be rendered a gay welcome. The mayor may also accompany him to Milwaukee, New Year's day, where he will be accorded every form of homage and honor known to Elksdom.

It is the first time in years that the national head of the Elks has visited Janesville and indications point to a large turnout to meet him.

The New Year's Eve festivities for the Elks will begin at 7:30 p. m. with a banquet at the Elks hotel at which Mayor Woolson, district deputy grand exalted ruler, will be toastmaster. $20,000 SOUGHT IN TWO DAMAGE SUITS
Dr. Meyers Made Defendant in Actions Brought by Insurance Firms.

Suit for damages as the result of injuries to two Edgerton firemen in the collision, Labor day, has been started by the Travelers' Insurance company, through its Madison representative, against Dr. F. C. Meyers, a Janesville physician, who is charged with having driven a truck, fatally injuring one and severely injuring six. Notice of suit has been received by Dr. Meyers.

The suit is based on injuries to Al Lyman, who is recovering from a fractured skull and a broken leg and other injuries and Henry Biesman, who suffered a broken leg. The insurance company asks damages of $20,000 as the result of Lyman's injuries and $5,000 for Biesman's. The men are employees of the city fire department and are covered by this policy held by the city.

The suit is the second to be brought against the Edgerton firemen as the result of the Edgerton accident. A suit is pending in Rock county circuit court for $10,000 damages in which he is the defendant.

According to Dr. Meyers there is a possibility that the city may become the defendant in the case already in court and that the city may be liable for the damages in which he is the defendant.

STAAK KILLED IN FIGHT, DEFENDANT SAYS AT HEARING

JOHN SCHIEFFEL IN NEW TESTIMONY ON STAND.

FEBRUARY TRIAL

Three Bound Over After Sentencing Is Sprung in Lancaster Quiz.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Lancaster—Sensational developments in the St. Paul murder hearing were made at the February term of the Grant county circuit court for first degree murder.

Father on Stand.
John Schieffel, father of William, was placed on the stand by the defense and, according to George J. Clemenson, the attorney, was asked the following question by Mr. McGeever, his attorney:

"Do you know how Joseph Staak came to his death?"
"How?"
"In a fight with me," Schieffel is alleged to have said.

This threw a bombshell into the crowd of interested spectators, as heretofore the evidence has been of the preliminary examination, which closed here Tuesday afternoon when John and William Schieffel, and John Prochaska, Highland, were bound over for trial at the February term of the Grant county circuit court for first degree murder.

Stays Staak Stabbed.
Mrs. Mary Mechtal, summoned by Prochaska on the night of the murder, was the only other witness without a subpoena. According to Mr. Clemenson, her testimony showed clearly that Prochaska was on the scene at the time the actual killing was done. She testified that, Prochaska, who was a stranger to her, an excited voice, had told her that Staak had been stabbed and was dying on the road. The man, according to Mrs. Mechtal, asked her to assist him in his journey. She said she was about an eighth of a mile from the scene of the murder, which is in Grant county near the Grant-Iowa county line. The defense has contended that Staak was not on the scene at the time of the murder.

Would Show Attack.
District Attorney Clemenson will attempt to show at the trial, to be held before Judge Sherman E. Smalley, that young Schieffel was attacked by Staak on the night of Dec. 9, 1920, and that he struck him with his fist. He will attempt to show that Schieffel's father then came to his assistance and that the two men, father and son, finished Staak, who died of his wounds. The defense has contended that Staak was not on the scene at the time of the murder.

Wisconsin Men Plead for More Farm Credits Through Reserve Banks

The report said all of the robbers were heavily armed. Two automobile trucks were used to haul the liquor away.

Soon after the bandits departed, the five guards bound with ropes, released themselves and notified county authorities.

St. Paul—Increased credit facilities for rural banks and farmers through the federal reserve banks system was recommended by a Wisconsin delegation to the joint congressional committee on rural credit here Wednesday.

The committee, of which Representative Gilbert Haugen, Iowa, is chairman, will hold a two day hearing Wednesday for grain growers. A questionnaire, sent to 670 Wisconsin farmers, shows that 60 per cent of the farmers are forced to sell their products against their judgment. The Wisconsin delegation, which was composed of C. P. Norgard, state commissioner of agriculture, George McKee, president of the Wisconsin Farmers' Educational Union, and H. A. Mochlenbach, president of the Bankers' Finance Corporation of Wisconsin, made these recommendations:

1. That the federal reserve bank system be made more generous in its dealing with rural banks and farmers.

2. That everything be done to popularize the farm loan bonds of the federal land loan system.

3. That a subsidiary department of the farm loan system extended rural credits for one, two and three year loans.

4. That the portion 19 of the federal reserve bank which has farmers paper endorsed by a non-member bank as federal reserve security, be repealed.

The Wisconsin delegation, which was the only group heard at the initial session, declared the federal reserve bank system does not extend proper credit to the farmer; that the funds are under the domination of many cities, which banks in large cities, which favor industries.

He was later transferred to the army, commanding a company in France and after three months' training was sent to St. Albans to train replacements for the front. He was gassed in action.

VOTE UNANIMOUS

Urban Council of Navan Also Declares for Anglo-Irish Peace.

BULLETIN
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London—It has been learned from a reliable source, says a London dispatch from Dublin Wednesday, that at a secret meeting of the Dail Eireann leaders, representing both supporters and opponents of the Anglo-Irish treaty, a compromise was reached which will insure ratification of the pact.

Belfast—A convention of Sinn Fein clubs of North Donegal, held at Buncrana, has adopted a resolution, by unanimous vote, expressing satisfaction with the Irish peace treaty as embodying the essential of Ireland's freedom and safeguarding Ireland's honor. Reports submitted before the vote showed that each district in the constituency favored ratification of the pact.

The resolution called on the six Dail members representing the district not only to vote for the treaty but to use their influence to bring about ratification. Failure to do this, the resolution stated, would be regarded as betrayal of the best interests of the country and gross contempt for the opinions of their constituents.

Donegal, although the most northerly county, is under southern parliament, being one of the three counties excluded from Ulster under the government of Ireland bill of 1920.

Chicago—Movies, jazz, dancing and the cigarette, if they affect morals, were bitterly denounced at Wednesday's session of the International Purity conference, addressed the delegates on "The Menace of the Movie" while J. Louis Guyon, a dancing master of Chicago, told "The Danger of Jazz."

Mr. Guyon, in discussing the word jazz, claimed that for half a century it had been a slang expression to describe immoral acts. He said it defined persons who "carelessly used the word jazz in any meaning, as used in parts of the underworld, they probably never would use the word again."

School Money Puzzle to Be Given Council

The situation which the city confronts in regard to bids for the work to complete the new high school building, estimated more than $170,000, which is $40,000 more than the architects' estimate, the board will ask the council to find some way in which the additional money may be raised, it is believed.

At its adjourned special meeting Thursday night, the bids for the tile, terrazzo and marble will probably be rejected and the action on the other bids will be held open until after the next council meeting. The board may award the bids for the tiling, plumbing or electrical work as there are sufficient funds on hand to cover the cost of some of this work, which should be started soon, so as not to impede progress on the building.

ICE SUPPORTS SKATING RINKS

Four Ice Ponds to Be Provided for Children—Dull Session.

City endorsement and cooperation with Parent-Teachers' associations in establishing four ice skating rinks this winter at the Adams and Grant schools, Fourth ward and court house parks, was given by the council at its adjourned regular meeting, Tuesday night, in the passage of Ald. A. G. Gibbons' resolution to refer the petition for rinks to the council fire and water committee with power to act.

A movement was started toward having gasoline filling stations from certain sections of Main and Milwaukee streets and the Janesville traction company's resurfaced and placed in the hands of the highway committee for further consideration. These were the three features of the short and quiet session attended by all 14 aldermen.

Razing Contract Awarded.
Ernest Schumacher was awarded the contract for razing buildings necessary for the straightening of Race street, between North Franklin and North River street, and he will start work at once. His bid to pay for the city $1, he to acquire all materials recovered, was considered the lowest and best of 19 submitted and gone over by a special committee consisting of Aldermen Ransom, Kelly and Gibbons.

Payment of $1,359 was ordered in favor of L. J. Tyler for giving the city's four iron bridges two coats of red paint—Payroll, engine bridge, $225; Court street, $307; Racine, $243; and Monterey, $584.

Letters were read from the two railroad companies announcing the completion of re-planking crossings at North River and Race streets.

Bank's Bonds Approved.
Bonds of the five banks as city depositors for 1922 were accepted upon motion of Ald. C. J. Smith, three of them being for $200,000 each and two for $100,000.

Thomas Gordon and Rush A. Berg were each given a taxicab and driver's license, and Mr. Berg secured license for two drivers, George Solomon and Walter Hill.

In order to arrive at some definite understanding upon the digging and re-filling of sewer and water ditches, City Attorney Roger C. Cunningham was directed to confer with Supt. H. A. Griffin, and Plumbing Inspector George Sligham.

Kelly to Direct Rinks.
As chairman of the fire and water committee, Ald. B. F. Kelly is now in charge of plans to provide skating rinks and he goes into it with the well wishes of others who have tried and failed.

"We've tried for 20 years to make a skating rink but haven't succeeded because city water is so warm it takes the frost out of the ground and soaks through," said Supt. H. A. Griffin. "If you spray it on, you get snow. The only way is to have a cement foundation."

"I suggest that river water be used to flood the rinks where possible but it is cooler and won't take the frost out of the ground—we used to do it successfully that way," said Ald. Walter Holmes.

"There's a fine natural skating pond just below the Jackson street bridge which could be improved by scraping off the snow," offered Ald. L. J. Cronin.

"Give me a good level piece of land and I'll make you a skating rink but this winter should really be started in the fall to good results," declared Alderman Kelly.

The petition for rinks was signed by the presidents of all Parent Teachers' associations, as follows: Mrs. J. J. Anties, Adams; Mrs. D. W. Holmes, Jefferson; Mrs. Charles E. Tallman, Washington-Grant; Mrs. Edmund Barlinger, Douglas-Lincoln; Mrs. Maurice Dalton, Webster-Carroll; Mrs. L. J. Cronin, Jackson; Mrs.

B. J. Manning, St. Patrick's; Mrs. A. J. Pettit, St. Mary's.

12-2 Vote on Tank.
Aldermen J. J. Dulin and A. J. Gibbons stood together and completely alone on a resolution to deny M. E. Honeysett the right to install two gasoline pumps at the curb in front of 128 Corn Exchange. The vote was 12 to 2, so the tanks will be put in. The tank discussion did have good effects in that the highway committee was directed to frame an ordinance creating a zone in which filling stations shall not be installed. Mayor T. E. Welsh announced that W. H. Dougherty had requested of him a resurrection of the anti-motor bus ordinance and for holding public hearings on it. The highway committee has agreed to take up the matter and Ald. J. J. Dulin announced a meeting of the committee to be held with City Attorney Roger C. Cunningham on 2:30 p. m., Friday. This will be for committee members only; street-car representatives, bus line operators and others to be called in later if necessary.

Freight Rates to Be Reduced Jan. 1.

Saving Farmers

Announcement of freight rate reductions in effect January 1, are made by local roads along with others in the western territory. Some of the most important are 13 per cent down on wheat and grain products; 22 per cent on corn, oats, rye, barley and products from these grains; 13 per cent on hay and straw; 10 per cent on livestock, butter, eggs, cheese, poultry, lent tobacco, fruits and vegetables, including potatoes, wool and mohair.

You Cannot Find
Health at the Bottom of a Medicine
Bottle.

MANY illnesses are caused by undue pressure upon the nerves feeding that particular part of the anatomy. The pulsing life-giving energy transmitted through the nerves to the various organs, must reach their goals unhampered by any causes, if these organs are to function properly. Many so-called diseases and ills are quickly and effectively cured by adjusting the spinal cord through which these nerves run. Where medicine relieves the trouble temporarily, chiropractic treatment effects a permanent relief.

Chiropractic for Headaches

Are you persistently troubled with headaches? You fatigue easily, and because you have a persistent, nagging pain in your head you are sometimes cross, and your work goes wrong, or won't "go" at all. If it were not for the temporary relief obtained from drugs you would hardly be able to keep going at times. And then every few weeks all the pain seems to gather its forces for a colossal attack, and for a few hours you suffer with intense pain, which leaves you weak and more unfit than ever to carry on your work.

Modern science has proven that disease has a CAUSE, and that to treat or drug the effects of it is useless. To remove the cause is the only solution. It has further proven that the CAUSE is pressure upon the nerves which carry to every part of the body the vital forces or mental impulses, which are the means of all life in the body. The only place where such pressure can occur is in the spine, where the nerves emit from the spinal column through the foramina. Here subluxations or displacements of the vertebrae produce pressure. The Chiropractor adjusts these subluxated vertebrae to a normal position, and Nature, having an unobstructed passage for the vital forces, cures. See your Chiropractor.

The case of a prominent Janesville business man whom we adjusted for Headaches, is particularly notable because not only was the condition relieved, but he has been enabled to dispense with his glasses permanently. (Name on Request).

PAGE ENFORCEMENT TO BUSINESS

Fixing Penalty of Breaking Anti-Trust Statutes
—Morgan.

[By Associated Press.]

Madison—Unless anti-trust laws are enforced in Wisconsin, legislation creating commissions to regulate business and to fix prices and profits will be inevitable, Attorney General William J. Morgan declared today in an address to the conference of district attorneys meeting here.

Expressing himself as opposed to state regulation of all business "through commissions," the attorney general said that "if business men would only look far enough ahead, they must see that their interests will be served by having the anti-trust laws enforced just as truly as the interests of the consuming public will be served."

"It doesn't make any difference whether our laws are violated by a banker or a farmer, a manufacturer or a corner grocer, a merchant or a laborer," Mr. Morgan declared. "All must be made to respect the law and to obey it."

Service to Business

"I for one believe we will not only serve the public by maintaining public order, but also by strictly enforcing anti-trust laws but that we will be rendering a lasting service to legitimate business as well, for, let me say this, the people of Wisconsin are not going to submit patiently to the profiteering of business buccanniers."

"I am quite convinced," the attorney general continued, "that in many instances where prices are unduly high, they are simply the effect of a combination in restraint of trade, formed for the purpose of controlling prices and preventing competition."

Mr. Morgan pointed to the duties of district attorneys in enforcing the blue law against sale of intoxicating liquors. He pointed out activity of certain county legal advisors and to the work of his own department in acting against the Co-operative Society in its Wisconsin activities.

Morgan Justifies Action

"Our efforts to drive this concern out of Wisconsin," Mr. Morgan said, "need no further justification than the fact that out of $11,587.85 paid by subscribers, only $2,621.279 ever reached the trustees of the trust to be held for the benefit of subscribers, vastly more being paid out for commissions and expenses than was ever turned in the trust estate."

"It is not the province of the attorney general or district attorney to exercise any guardianship over the investment by any one of his or her funds in any legitimate enterprise no matter how speculative the province to suppress stock selling schemes and crooked enterprises by criminal prosecutions whenever we can get the evidence, and by use of injunctions when that method seems most likely to bring the desired results."

Romance, Born During War, Dies in Divorce Court

Romance born during the war sometimes fades and withers, the last flickering spark to die out in the divorce court. John William Rodman, 47, on a complaint charging desertion, was granted a divorce from his wife Beatrice G. Rodman, 47, on a complaint charging desertion, by Judge George Grimm Tuesday afternoon in a divorce case started a year ago.

While stationed at an army camp near New York, Ford met a maid from Paterson, N. J., the silk mill town. They were married.

In proceedings started here by Attorney B. H. Peterson, Ford sought an annulment of the marriage and the wife sought a divorce on a cross complaint charging desertion. The Janesville youth was on the witness stand to be questioned by John C. Rood, Beloit attorney, who appeared for the wife. Following his testimony in the examination the court granted the divorce to the wife Beatrice G. Rodman.

Attacks Charge of Daugherty

Beloit—Speaking before the Beloit Rotary club, Charles H. Macintosh, president of the Associated Merchants Clubs of the World and the former governor of the international Rotary district which included Wisconsin, rapped the state government recently made by Attorney General William H. Daugherty that there existed a combine on the part of retailers to maintain high prices. The speaker said no such combination as charged by Mr. Daugherty could exist for a moment. He declared destruction of public confidence in retail merchants, by unwise attacks, even by these in high governmental affairs, must cease before business can run with its former smoothness and efficiency.

WISCONSIN DAIRY CATTLE

Augusta, Kansas, held a high celebration a few days ago when a car load of pure bred cattle came from Wisconsin. A Utah rancher has just shipped a number of Holsteins from Dodge county to his ranch. Fond du Lac county reports that every grade Guernsey would be taken from the county if the offers of buyers were accepted.
Rock county will sell every pure bred animal in its herds in the year if the demand so rapidly increasing is met. That it pays to raise the kind of cattle that is in demand in every state in the union is daily demonstrated by the experience of Wisconsin. This is the state of the pure bred and the money in farming seems to be in raising that class of stock.

It's perfectly all right to speak of discarded warships as scrapiron.

SELLING WISCONSIN SCENERY

Last year the state sold more scenery by many times than ever before in its history. It is a great asset and is one of the salable articles of which the more that is sold, the more there is to sell.
The more sold, the more customers. Thousands discovered beauty and pleasure and health and happiness in Wisconsin last year. In 1922 there will be more tourists. It is well to get the stage set for the tourist during that period when the automobile will cover the roads of the state like an army of giant ants.

In the last few weeks the Gazette has received from the secretaries of a number of New England states, information as to the amount of money received from non-residents as a result of the sale of scenery. Maine, through its fish and game department furnished the most concrete figures showing that over $50,000,000 was spent there in one way and another. In the past year. Many millions of dollars of property along the lakes, the seashore and the rivers, are owned by non-residents and each year they add to the taxable wealth of the state. Now Hampshire's secretary of state estimates $30,000,000 as the tourist value. Yet the gross figures of the number of persons going to those sections for summer pleasures are less than the estimates of tourist numbers in Wisconsin in 1921.

In order to sell Wisconsin scenery we must have roads to get where the scenery is. We must have places for the tourist to camp as he is passing along. We must be the host par excellence and have out the glad hand and the hearty welcome. Here is the finest there is out of doors.
Nature has been overkind. Instead of sitting down and weeping because the Lord did not make all the ground of the state level and black and productive but tossed rocks here and there. It is well to arise and make the rocks pay a dividend by leading the tourist to the beauties strewn everywhere.

Sell Wisconsin Scenery!

Many a man mourns the fact that he has had to go into winter without his car having been stolen.

THE SAME DEBS

Mr. Debs sent the money he received from the prison to Sacco and Vanzetti, the two anarchists who have just been freed from a new trial on the charge of murder for which they were convicted. in the Massachusetts courts. These are the men whose conviction brought threats from anarchists everywhere that they would blow up every representative of the United States and kill every representative of this government if the two men were executed. A part of the threat was carried out when the embassy of the United States at Paris was partly destroyed. Apparently the man who will give aid and comfort to Sacco and Vanzetti is the same Debs who went to prison.

Uncle Hiram Haversack says there is a little alcohol in everything but a stick of dynamite and bootleg likker.

Green Bay has put the lid on gambling and the Press Gazette says that the dice men, the professionals, the amateurs and the rest of the list are seeking new pastures or shutting up shop. In order not to hurt the feelings of the gamblers so severely and suddenly, they were all warned properly and in a gentlemanly way of the new life to be led in Green Bay.

The United Press dispatch about Henry Watterson's death records as a fact that he was the author of the expression that "Journalism is the art of knowing where hell is going to break loose next and having a man there to cover it."

IRREPRESSIBLE EXPANSION

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—The doctrine that a prolific people, living in a crowded country, must have some place to which its surplus population can go, is one which has been put forward repeatedly by aggressive and growing nations and which has always attracted a certain amount of popular sympathy.

This doctrine of irrepressible expansion was put forward by Germany before the great war, and it was sympathetically received, especially in this country. The same claim to a need for more room is now put forward constantly by the Japanese as a reason why they should be given either more land in Asia or immigration rights in America and Oceania.

That this doctrine is wholly ungrounded seems to be agreed by all serious students of the matter.
In fact, its unsoundness is generally recognized by those who put it forward, as well.
Its value is simply that it is a plausible sophistry which always has its effect with the ignorant public.

The fact with regard to population is that it tends to increase as fast as the food supply allows. When the food supply no longer permits of much increase in a given country, the increase automatically stops. On the other hand in sparsely populated regions the increase is always rapid.
In other words, any people will expand indefinitely if given enough land in a suitable climate, but it is hard to see why one nation should have more right to such expansion than another.
Thus England and Belgium have long been the most thickly settled countries in Europe and among the most thickly settled in the world. But we do not hear from those nations a demand that they be given another continent or two to populate. They are not strong enough to make such a demand. Instead, these peoples have stayed within their boundaries, and their populations, having reached the saturation point, have ceased to increase.

In point of fact, the very same phenomenon has been observed in Japan, in whose behalf the irrepressible expansion doctrine is now generalized. In the past 50 years Japan has expanded her territory about 70 per cent by the annexation of Korea, Formosa and southern Sachalin. During the first 20 of these 50 years the Japanese population increased rapidly. For the past 5 years the increase has been very small. In 1920 it was only about one-half of one per cent. What does this mean? Simply that the Japanese population increased as much as its increased land area justified, and then automatically ceased to increase.

As a matter of fact, Japan has much land within her present boundaries which is unused. All of northern Japan is thinly populated. The reason for this is that the Japanese do not like a cold climate.

Japan annexed Korea under the pretext that her irrepressible expansion of population made it necessary. As a matter of fact, Korea already produces barely enough food for its native population.

Japan has gained a powerful hold on Manchuria for the same alleged reason. There is land to spare in Manchuria, but the Japanese are not making much use of it. Since 1905, when Japan first gained her present position in Manchuria, about 250,000 Japanese have gone there, but only about 120,000 remained in 1920. In a word, the Japanese population has refused to expand ir-repressibly in that direction. The reason is again that the climate is too cold to suit the Japanese, and in addition, the fact that the Chinese and Koreans both are able to "undercut" the Japanese in labor by their lower standards of living, in exactly the same way that the Japanese are able to undercut Americans in California.

Thus Japan's claim to an irrepressible expansion is refuted in two ways. In the first place, her population is really increasing very little. In the second place, none of the territory she has seized, or obtained, or holds on by concession or lease has actually been used to any considerable extent as an outlet for surplus population. It appears then that the irrepressible expansion doctrine has been used with regard to these Asiatic countries as a cloak for Japan's economic imperialism—i. e., her desire to exploit them com-mercially and to strengthen her military and naval position by her control over them.

Japan's claim for the right for Japanese to emigrate to America has also generally been based on the irrepressible expansion idea. Since there is no irrepressible expansion of Japanese population, it is not to be wondered at that there is no doubt but that Japanese would come to this country in large numbers if allowed to do so.
However, the climate of California suits them, in the first place, and in the second place, it is easy for them to make money there by reason of their ability to undercut the Americans in way of living.

The irrepressible expansion doctrine, if examined with regard to any country, seems always to be a cloak for economic imperialism—for the desire to exploit some other country in a commercial way. This is in fact the whole motive of the international drama, the fundamental cause of war.

In all of the principal countries the maker or producer of goods is paid less than what he produces is worth. The farmer who raises a bushel of wheat is not paid as much for it as that bushel is worth in trade after it leaves his hands. If seven operatives in a shoe factory between them make a pair of shoes worth seven dollars, they are paid only about four. The result is that in all of the principal manufacturing countries there is a constant tendency to pile up a surplus of goods.
Some of this is exchanged with other manufacturing countries, but mainly most of it cannot be so disposed of, because each of these countries has also a surplus. The result is that the actual surplus of what labor produces, over what labor can buy with its wages, must be sold to some non-manufacturing country where the industrial system does not exist, or at least is not so highly developed. Hence the fact that all nations compete fiercely for markets in China, South America, and all of the other "undeveloped" countries. They must have these markets for the surplus goods.
The nation that does not get its share of these markets has a surplus of goods piled up on its hands. Then production stops, there is unemployment, famine, strikes, social unrest.

Every war is at bottom a struggle between the principal manufacturing nations for special rights in these surplus-goods markets, and for the supplies of raw material they contain. War will stop automatically when the common man refuses to fight for these markets, which are made necessary largely by his exploitation, and when he learns how to check his exploitation by getting the full value for his labor as much as it is worth in goods produced.

But in the interest of truth and veracity it should be said that he was not its author. The man who gave this or very near it to the world was Joe McCullagh, editor of the St. Louis Globe Democrat a protagonist of Watterson's.

Bandits want a ransom of $500,000 for the wife of Sun Yat Sen, the South China republic president. They are profiteering. American courts have held repeatedly that a wife is worth anywhere from one cent to $25,000 depending on how much money friend husband has.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

FOR THE NEW YEAR
This I would like to be—braver and bolder;
Just a bit wiser because I am older,
Just a bit kinder to those I may meet,
Just a bit manlier taking defeat.
This for the New Year my wish and my plea:
Lord, make a regular man out of me.

This I would like to be—just a bit finer,
More of a smiler and less of a whiner;
Just a bit quicker to stretch out my hand,
Helping another who's struggling to stand;
This is my prayer for the New Year to be:
Lord, make a regular man out of me.

This I would like to be—just a bit fairer,
Just a bit better and just a bit sweeter;
Not quite so ready to censure and blame,
Quicker to help every man in the game.
Not quite so eager men's callings to see—
Lord, make a regular man out of me.

This I would like to be—just a bit truer,
Less of the wisher and more of the doer, Broader and bigger, more willing to give,
Living and helping my neighbor to live;
This for the New Year my prayer and my plea:
Lord, make a regular man out of me.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY R. MOULTON

A LITTLE SLICE OF LIFE

Telephone bells rang to answer it.
Sweet voice asked:
"Is Mr. Purvis there, please?"
"Yes," snaps Mrs. Purvis.
"Just a minute," she calls him.
"Thank you so much."
Says the sweet voice.
Mr. Purvis goes to the phone.
He holds long conversation.
In a low tone of voice.
It is quite confidential.
When he is through Mr. Purvis Asks, "Who was that woman?"
"What woman?" asks Mr. Purvis.
"That woman," says Mrs. Purvis.
"The woman you talked to, of course."
"I talked to no woman," says he.
"A woman called you to the phone."
"Oh, yes. That must have been Mr. Bilkins's private secretary."
She puts in the call.
Mrs. Purvis glares menacingly.
"That's old stuff, Henry."
"I was talking to Mr. Bilkins."
"I have never decided you, my dear."
"I got his shirt in his better half."
"I know you never have."
"And you never will."
You've pulled that secretary stuff
On me twenty-five times, Henry.
And you have never put it over.
What do you think I am, a dummy?
"Oh, what's the use," sighs Mr. Purvis.
"There ain't no use," declares the Mrs.
And she is dead right.
There ain't.

We believe the Count Lascelles who will wed
Princess Mary has a many-sided personality.
We have seen 347 newspaper pictures of him, and no two of them look alike.

could sing. The friends of her family said that they thought she could not and had a voice. She was led to believe that she could do both. Fi-

She would accept $500 a week. That might re-

SEN. OSCAR W. UNDERWOOD.
Washington sends word along the line that Senator Oscar W. Underwood is not going to lose his peacock feathers as Democratic leader because he feathered his nest in the enemy camp during the disarming pow-wow. But no matter what comes of this situation, it will always have some trouble in his flock because he comes from one of the two spots in the south where the Democratic idea of tariff revenue only is not popular.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO
Dec. 28, 1881.—"Uncle Tom's Cabin" has been seen here so often that it seems the people would tire of it, but there is always a good turnout for each company that comes along and its Saturday's will draw a crowd with its two topps, two donkeys and other "phenomenal features." A private German will be given at the Apollo hall one night next week.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
Dec. 28, 1891.—Haines Brothers, Chicago, have put a $2,000 bond into the hands of the city treasurer, and promise that the new electric street car road, for which Jansville people subscribed a large amount of money, will be built before July next, and cars will be running by that time. Dealers in the city state that the holiday trade was exceptionally good this year.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Dec. 28, 1901.—Clement Smith of the Columbia Construction Co., today began a survey of the land between Madison and Jansville for the proposed electric line. Bids for building Jansville's new postoffice will be opened Feb. 15 and work started soon after. The building will be of the best type and will be one of the ornaments of the city.

TEN YEARS AGO
Dec. 28, 1911.—There was a bad railroad accident near Afton this morning, when a train started without a conductor and struck a freight.
One man was badly burned, while others escaped with minor injuries. Work is being done on the fourth pier at the Fourth avenue bridge.
The work is slowed up somewhat by the cold.

SHOULD CHILDREN DRINK COCOA?

In our talk about tea and coffee the other day, dear children, we learned that these beverages do not relax or interfere with the digestion of food in the stomach and that chocolate or cocoa is taken as a beverage, however, the effect is quite different;
and in pointing out the difference I would direct your attention at once to the fact that cocoa is not a food, but a stimulant, and a stimulant is not nourishing to begin with.

Tea and coffee are stimulants, having practically no food or fuel value in themselves, aside from the food value of the sugar and cream or milk taken with them. Cocoa or chooco-late has some food value in itself, indeed, but it is not a food, for it lacks the nutritive requirements of the child, but a definite food value nevertheless. Of course cocoa is a stimulant to the brain, spinal cords and kidneys, particularly the kidneys; and this is another reason why it is not advisable for children, but compared with tea and coffee cocoa is only a mild stimulant, and a meal of food or cocoa will make the effect is about the same as when one drinks a glass or two of water with the meal—and one always should take a glass or two of water with every meal. The effect is stimulation of the flow of gastric juice into the stomach from the glands.
The tea or coffee or water remains only a short time in the stomach, less than 10 to 15 minutes, and is then sent on into the intestine, but the flow of gastric juice the tea, coffee or water has initiated continues for time, so that the food taken with the meal is better digested by reason of the stimulation the beverage has produced.

Now cocoa doesn't do anything like that. Cocoa doesn't leave the stomach for two or three hours, for remember, cocoa is itself a food, but its content of carbohydrate, protein and fat material requires a prolonged sojourn in the stomach, for the stomach must take care of it, and many an owner carries in his skull, when it comes to the essaying of the diet. Remember that cocoa is a middle stimulant, not a food or water, and its effect on the flow of gastric juice. So there you have a case against cocoa as a child's beverage.
It lodges in the stomach, where it fails to initiate the flow of gastric juice, and the food taken with it food the child may be excited to take with his stomach loaded with this false food, and the child runs away to mope and sulk, and stomach full, to be fed, but no uninterrupted stream of nourishment going to the child's body tissues. Your cocoa has just tricked

Q. What is the nature of the blood-less operation that Dr. Lorenz, performs? C. M. N.

A. Dr. Lorenz specializes in orthopedic surgery. After years of study he developed his so-called "bloodless" method of reducing congenital dislo-cation of the hip joint. This consists of the forcible reduction of the soft parts about the hip until the head of the bone can be brought to the place where the socket should be (the acetabulum), and then holding it in that position until the bone joins to secure it in the depression of the acetabulum. A plaster of paris case is worn by the patient from six to nine months after the operation.

Q. We have several wells in this locality, from which a cold current of air comes at times. Pumps in these wells freeze in winter when the air comes up, and thus when the current goes down. What causes this?
F. L. H.

A. The division of rural engineering says the type of the well mentioned in your letter is known as a "flocking well." The current of air in such a well is due to changes in the pressure of the atmosphere outside, and of the air in the ground. This is quite a common phenomenon.

Q. When was lager beer first made in the United States? F. H.

A. It is not definitely recorded just when lager beer was first manufactured in the United States, but brewing industry in this country has been traced back to 1826, the knowledge having been brought over with the Pilgrim Fathers.

Q. Will honey keep a long time?
T. S.

A. Honey does not spoil. It is a preservative.

Q. What was the size of the United States army when the republic was formed? S. O.

A. The strength of the United States army in 1789 was one regiment of infantry and one battalion of artillery, numbering 840 men in all.

Q. What are the seven liberal arts? Q. B. K.

A. The seven liberal arts include grammar, dialectics, rhetoric, music, arithmetic, geometry, and astronomy.

Q. I know that horse hair will not turn into snakes, but would like to return to "snakes" are not a reality? V. T. Y.

A. The hair snake or hair worm is a term applied to any of the long, threadlike nematode worms of the parasitic order Gordioidae. They inhabit moist places, are sometimes found in the leaves of plants, but more frequently in stagnant pools and in mud. Some species, when fully grown, measure nearly three feet in length.

Cards Stage Comeback and Beat Beloit Legion, 17 to 12

GAME IS FEATURED BY OLD-FASHIONED INTER-CITY FIGHT

In a rough and tumble game featured by the old-fashioned basketball rivalry between Janesville and Beloit, the Lakota Cardinals whipped the Beloit American Legion five, 17 to 12, at the college gym in that city, Tuesday night. Beloit led at the end of the first half, 8 to 6, and started fast in the second stanza but failed to register a single field goal in that period.

With Billy Kober and Tom Cronin, two Janesville stars, filling in the place left vacant by Bennett and Gill, the Lakotas put up a game fight and roughed it back to Beloit to the delight of the fans. Pitted against the Cards was a team composed of Blanchard, the Beloit brothers and other Beloit high school stars and former Beloit high school stars of former years. Maurice Dalton refereed.

The Cronin Counts 3 Goals. The features of the fray were Janesville's comeback in the second half and the work of Cronin, playing at right guard, in sending in three points in the second half and holding his man scoreless throughout the game. Kober accounted for three more baskets while Brumm got one. Kober tossed in three of the points in six free throws out of 10 chances, and ringing two goals from the floor. Anderson, right guard, made the other basket for Beloit. The game was close for far as Beloit was concerned, not a single shot being chalked up against anything unusual for the battling center. Sachs was adjudged guilty of three personal fouls. Mary Joseph Downing would have had to go into the game himself had any of his men been injured or put out because of fouling.

It was announced, Wednesday, by Mr. Downing that the game scheduled by the Cardinals with the Northwestern university all-stars for the rank here, Wednesday night, has been cancelled as have all other home games on account of lack of support. The score of the Tuesday night game:

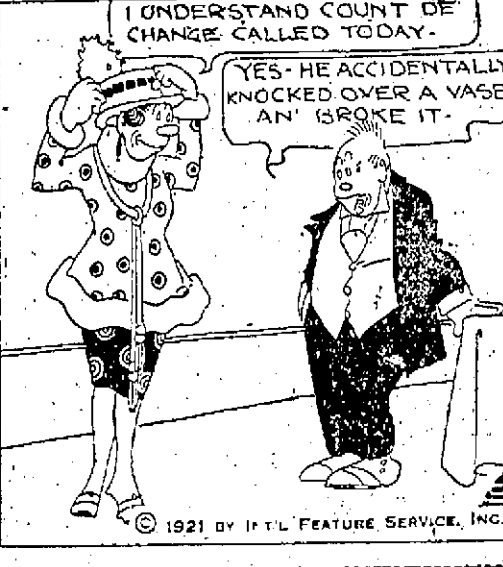

Lakota Cardinals-Beloit Legion (12) 17-12
Kober, 12; Cronin, 10; Gill, 8; Brumm, 6; Anderson, 4; Dalton, 3; Downing, 2; Kober, 1; Cronin, 1; Gill, 1; Brumm, 1; Anderson, 1; Dalton, 1; Downing, 1.

City League to Elect Following Tonight's Games

CITY LEAGUE TONIGHT
West Side
Gazette vs. Janesville Pure Milk Co. 3-4
Bake-Rites vs. Merrick Dairy Co. 1-2
East Side
Yahn's Kelly Springfields vs. Lewis Kellys 4-5
Cronin Dairy Co. vs. Shurt-Left Ice Creams 5-7

All members of the city bowling league will meet at the West Side alleys after the regular league games Wednesday night. A separate set of officers for the circuit will be elected. This will include a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Ever since the Janesville Bowling association was organized, the officers of the J. B. A. have acted jointly as the officers of the city league, inasmuch as the Janesville Bowling association's jurisdiction should be purely that of a parent body, it has been thought advisable upon the recommendation of William F. Fenske, secretary of the Wisconsin Bowling association, to choose a separate set for the city wheel.

In this manner, the board of directors of the Janesville Bowling association will be composed of the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer elected annually to these positions by the entire membership of the association; one representative, logically the president, from each league under the jurisdiction of the J. B. A. and the association's representative to the state bowling association.

A hot battle is expected Wednesday night when the Bake-Rites and the Merrick Dairy clash on the West Side alleys. The Merrick team is leading the circuit while the Bake-Rites are tied with the Shurt-Left Ice Creams for second place.

"Hippo" Vaughn Will Stay With Fairies, Says Report

"Hippo" Vaughn, former star pitcher with the Chicago Cubs, and more recently twirler for the Beloit Fairies, will return to the mound for Fairies-Morris next season, according to a report from Chicago, Wednesday. Vaughn, the report says, will not return to the Cubs, although official word is lacking.

Vaughn was suspended by Evers, then manager of the Cubs, last July, for 30 days. The hurler then disappeared for a spell, and finally turned up in Kenosha, where he pitched a game under an assumed name. At the termination of his suspension he reported to the Cubs, but was referred to Commissioner Landis, who immediately termed the big fellow a contract jumper, and put him on the ineligible list.

Recently Manager Chubb of the Fairies went to Vaughn, tore up the player's contract, it is said, and informed him he could go back to organized baseball if he so wished. What happened from this point on is not definitely known.

Cub officials deny having had any dealings with Vaughn, and Landis, a couple of days ago, said he did not recall an application for reinstatement from the pitcher.

Semi-pro men, however, claim Vaughn's case was taken before Landis and turned down. "Hippo" then returned to Beloit and signed another contract, it is said.

LANDIS WILL SAVE GAME, SAYS PONGO

With the same old smile, and warm greeting Joe ("Pongo") Cantillon, owner and manager of the Minneapolis "Millers," dropped into Janesville Tuesday night to remain over Wednesday to meet "some of the old gang again" as he expressed it. And "Pongo" is always welcomed by Janesville.

Whenever Joe Cantillon gets near Janesville without having some weighty baseball problem on his mind or his thoughts centered on a duck hunt at his camp on Reelfoot Lake, Tennessee, he takes the matter for Janesville. He hunts up men who played baseball here 40 and 40 years ago when Joe was playing with his barehands and fighting to win for the love of the game. Born in Janesville, reared here and obtaining his foundation experience in baseball here, "Pongo" always has a regard for the city of his birth and his friends here.

Is Same "Pongo"

It makes me a little sad to come here now for I hear of so many people that I know or knew who died," remarked Cantillon. "But I love to come just the same and talk of the old days when baseball was for the game and the sport and not so much for the money."

Baseball in the summer and hunting in the winter has dealt kindly with Joe Cantillon. He is just as full of action as ever. Not will he admit he is getting a bit old. Not Joe Cantillon, for next summer he will be out on the base-lines of the American Association, spurring his "Millers" on with the same old snap and "get there" for "Pongo" is the greatest manager in the association circuit and one of the greatest in the country.

Minneapolis finished second, three games behind St. Paul this year and were outlucked in the last six weeks when three of the stars were injured and out of the game during the climax finish.

"We should have won—but this is the game of luck, of it and we'll win next year," remarked Cantillon. "I have got about the same team with only a few changes."

Had Good Season

"We had the best season we ever had this year and expect even a better one next year. This man Landis is a wonder and will increase the interest and spirit of the game. He is just what organized baseball wanted and needed, a man honest to the last cent, fair and yet not afraid."

"When asked his opinion about the firing of Babe Ruth and the effect of the Landis ruling, Cantillon said, "He got what was coming to him and it will stick. If there is ever any proof that the New York club pays Ruth's fine or rather his series money, then I think Landis will find the Yankees at least $150,000 to enforce his ruling."

What Janesville needs is organized baseball and I hope to see baseball started here again. There is plenty of chance for a league in Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois and the patrons of the sport would know the strength of the teams."

Throughout his life Joe Cantillon has been in baseball as a player, and a good one, an umpire, a manager, both in the big leagues and association and then as an owner. Few men have developed more stars than "Pongo." He knows baseball to a point where his name might be used as a synonym for the sport.
